

EUA-CDE Focus Group programme Implementing an Ethos of Research Integrity in Doctoral Education

Hosted by Vrije Universiteit Brussel
24-25 October 2017 | Brussels, Belgium

Implementing an ethos of research integrity has become a crucial challenge for academic leaders and professionals working on doctoral education. Universities are facing uncharted ethical questions stemming from innovative paths for research, while increased social awareness puts a spotlight on the integrity of university staff. Doctoral education is emerging as a powerful tool to meet these challenges.

Programme as of 31 August 2017

Tuesday 24 October 2017

12:00 – 13:00 Lunch

13:00 – 13:30 Welcome and introduction

13:30 – 15:00 Tour-de-table* and discussion on research ethics and integrity in doctoral education

15:00 – 15:30 Coffee break

15:30 – 17:00 Gallery walk

19:00 Dinner

Wednesday 25 October 2017

09:00 – 10:30 Break-out groups on key aspects of research ethics and integrity in doctoral education

10:30 – 11:00 Coffee break

11:00 – 12:30 Report on break-out groups and round table discussion summarising key findings

Followed by an EUA Webinar

* Each participant will have two minutes to introduce themselves, the institution that he or she is coming from and its involvement in implementing an ethos of research integrity.

 An exercise whereby small groups of participants circulate among flipcharts containing key questions and are invited to discuss the issue together and write their comments underneath, as well as comment on the statements of other groups.